

REFRIGERATOR IS BLAMED FOR CANN TRAGEDY

Belief that the fire which badly damaged the home of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Cann, 238 Highland park, early Sunday morning, and caused the death of four-year-old Michael Cann from suffocation was caused from a light inside an electric refrigerator in the kitchen of the house, was voiced by Jack Arms, investigator for the state fire marshal's office late Monday.

At the direction of the investigator, Glenn Weishaar of Weishaar Brothers hardware and appliance store, removed the motor of the refrigerator, located at the bottom of the large box. Arms said, however, it was unlikely that the fire had started in the motor, since the floor underneath was not burned.

The interior of the refrigerator was so badly burned that some of the metal parts were fused. "The heat inside the refrigerator must have been terrific," Arms said.

Cupboards Gone

Next to the refrigerator, which was near the kitchen door, were the kitchen sink and enclosed cupboards. So badly burned were the cupboards that firemen and Mr. Arms did not know there had been cupboards on this side of the room until they visited a neighboring house similarly built and were told of the cupboards in the Cann kitchen.

Woodwork in the kitchen and living room was charred and burned to a depth of an inch or more, and furniture burned to be almost unrecognizable as such. Panels were burned out of doors and electric switch and fixtures melted.

The assertion that the youngster, found on the floor of his bedroom on the second floor, where he had

POLICE CONTINUE PROBE OF CRASH

Investigation of the fatal accident early Sunday morning in which three Dickinson college students lost their lives when their automobile plunged 160 feet to the bottom of a stone quarry a mile north of Hanover turned to Maryland today.

Set W. Kurt Duhkoff, officer in charge of the Gettysburg substitution of the Pennsylvania State Police, was in Maryland today checking on an automobile which it is thought might have struck the car occupied by the three students.

Parts of a 1937 DeSoto automobile were found at a point on the Hanover-Cross Keys road about where the Carlisle car left the highway before it plunged through a wire fence and into the Bethlehem Steel quarry.

William Thomas Long, Jr., 19, Westfield, N. J., Hugh Alexander Lawhead, Jr., Hyde, Pa., and Thomas Hill Corneli, 22, Lock Haven, were instantly killed. The accident was not discovered until several hours later.

ASSISTANCE BD. REGRETS CUT IN RELIEF GRANTS

The 1,600 relief recipients in Adams county will find their assistance checks reduced starting in the latter part of April, the Adams County Assistance board learned Monday evening at its regular meeting in the assistance offices on North Washington street.

The reduction was ordered as part of a state-wide decrease in the amounts to be paid recipients, according to letter from Frank A. Robbins, Jr., state secretary of public assistance, to the local board.

Although the local board was unanimous in its regret that the state has decided to reduce the grants, the board had no choice but to carry out the reduction as directed. The new assistance grant level will slash about $2,400 to $3,000 a month from the amount given at present to relief recipients in this county.

Say Living Costs Dropped

The action of the state board of assistance, Robbins' letter states, "was in conformance with a drop in food and clothing costs during the past year. When prices were rising, food grants had been increased eight times and clothing grants had been increased three times."

Robbins' letter pointed out that the average family of four receiving aid to dependent children received an average monthly public assistance grant for all items totaling $41 in 1940. At present the same family receives $36. The proposed changes in food and clothing allowances will reduce the average grant for a family of four to about $33, Robbins pointed out. A single person in 1940 would have received $17 per month, at present the grants to single persons average $39 a month. The cut will reduce that amount to about $37 a month.

Local Board Chairman J. D. Miller, reviewing the reductions noted that each grant with the exception of blind pension will be reduced from $1.50 to $1.30 per person, depending on the size of the family.

Case Load Increases

Because relief recipients in the county receive two checks a month, the reduction per check will be about 75 cents to $1.50 per person.

The report of the assistance rolls as given by the executive director, Mrs. Verna Myers, showed that the caseload has increased from 799 as of March 1, 1949, to 851 as of March 1 this year. The increased number of cases represents an increase in the number of persons receiving relief from 1,433 to 1,649.

Most of the increase over the year

SAYS IRON ORE MAY BE NEARBY

A Harrisburg newspaper today quoted S. H. Cathcart, Pennsylvania state geologist, as saying Monday night that the mysterious land purchases which have been made for months in several sections of Adams county "might indicate that iron ore has been discovered in the area."

The land purchases, reported first by The Gettysburg Times several weeks ago, are being made for an unnamed client by Attorney Franklin R. Bigham and C. A. Heiges, real estate agent. They say they are not permitted to identify the real buyer of farms in the Stone Jug-Hampton, section, a property near Cashtown and land in at least one other unidentified section of the county.

Speculation that Bethlehem Steel company is buying the land brought a denial from a company official several weeks ago.

Residents in some of the areas involved said that prior to the farm land purchases, a low-flying plane was seen cruising over the area, trailing a cable. Cathcart said this could be a description of an airborne magnetometer, which is often used to determine if iron ore is beneath the surface.

Cathcart said that copper is known to be in the area, but that neither copper nor uranium would be sought with such an apparatus.

COUPLE TO WED

A marriage license was issued today to Charles Hanson Deatricks, son of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Deatricks, New Oxford R. 1, and Janet, Louise Kime, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester E. Kime, New Oxford R. 2.

CONTRIBUTIONS OF UN TO WORLD ARE REVIEWED

The United Nations may not have lived up to the high hopes that were held when it was first established, but it has been of tremendous value to the world so far, three speakers told the local Rotary club at its regular meeting Monday evening at the YWCA.

Dr. W. Fred Shaffer, of the Gettysburg college faculty, and two college students, Louis Hammann and Howard Maxwell, were the speakers. Doctor Shaffer outlined in general the work of the United Nations, taking up particularly a recent report of Secretary-General Trygve Lie. Hammann outlined the Declaration of Human Rights drawn up under auspices of the United Nations and Maxwell discussed the United Nations Educational, Social and Cultural organization.

Noting that dissensions between the big powers and difficulties in connection with atomic control have beset the United Nations and prevented it from functioning to its fullest extent, Doctor Shaffer added: "The point is that such matters could not be handled effectively even though there was no veto. In any body, national or international, there must be compromise and cooperation between the members if the organization is to work properly. The important thing right now is that the United Nations does exist and does provide a place where the difficulties between the big powers can be discussed, and as long as they can be discussed, there is a possibility of their being settled."

Cites Accomplishments

So far through the efforts of the United Nations wars that would have involved 500,000,000 people and possibly the entire world have been averted in India and Palestine, the college professor noted.

Hammann noted that "the mere fact that the declaration of human rights has been made by the United Nations is of tremendous importance. Some nations have not subscribed to it, regarding the declaration as having no legal authority."

"But the fact that it has been

MAY TAKE 1,000 VOTERS OFF LIST

Upwards of 1,000 Adams countyans will lose the right to vote if they do not respond to cards sent them to remind them that they have not voted for two years.

The Adams county election board has sent out "between 1,000 and 1,200" cards to that effect to as many countyans, Clerk Ray Snyder said today.

Each year the election board checks the list of voters and finds out which ones have not voted for a two-year period. They are sent cards. If a reply is made they remain on the rolls. If no reply is received, the name is removed from the lists and the person is no longer eligible to vote.

Monday will be the last day to file petitions for a place on the ballot May 16, and Saturday is the last day voters may register prior to the primary, Snyder reminded.

Mass Meeting At Cashtown Thursday

A group of citizens has called a mass meeting for Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Cashtown fire hall to take steps to get the state highway department to continue maintenance of the old section of the Lincoln highway from McKnightstown to Mt. Newman.

A spokesman for the group said that under present laws, care of the old section of the road will revert eventually to the township.

State Senator Donald P. McPherson, Jr., and the candidates for the General Assembly have been invited to attend the meeting and state their positions on legislation that the citizens say will be needed to accomplish their purpose.

CENSUS BUREAU GIVES LIST OF ITS QUESTIONS

Only eight specific questions in the 1950 census of population will be asked of all individuals when enumerators make their calls at households during April. This was pointed out today by John D. Lippy, Jr., Gettysburg crew leader, in charge of local enumerators.

The eight inquiries to be made concerning every person will be: name, relationship to head of household, race, sex, age, marital status, state or country of birth and citizenship status.

Two additional inquiries concern all persons 14 years old and over. These relate to employment status and kind of job.

The remainder of the questions will be asked only of a sample of persons, selected by chance according to the order in which their names fall on the census schedule.

Ask Other Questions

For every fifth person, there will be four questions as to place of residence one year ago, country of birth of father and mother, whether attending school, and highest grade attended. For every fifth person 14 years old and over there are four questions on number of weeks worked in 1949, income in 1949, veteran status (males only), and duration of unemployment (if unemployed).

Three other inquiries will apply only to every 30th person 14 years old and over in certain categories. One in 30 persons neither working nor seeking work during the week before the census will be asked to report on kind of job last held if employed at any time in 1949. One in 30 persons reporting themselves as ever having been married will be asked if they have been married more than once, and the number of years in present marital status. One in 30 married women will be asked how many children they have borne.

CPL. BARTLETT RETURNS

LINCOLN SQUARE

AN ORDINANCE DESIGNATED AND NAMING CENTER SQUARE IN THE BOROUGH OF GETTYSBURG AS LINCOLN SQUARE.

BE IT ENACTED AND ORDAINED by the burgess and the borough council of the borough of Gettysburg, Adams County, Pennsylvania, and it hereby is enacted and ordained by authority of the same that from and after the effective date of this ordinance the square at the intersection of Carlisle street and Baltimore street with Chambersburg and York street, and known as Center square or Centre square, shall be designated and known for all official purposes of the borough, and by the officers and employees of the borough as Lincoln square.

ENACTED AND ORDAINED into an ordinance this 20th day of March, 1950.

H. M. Oyler, President

ATTEST: Ann B. Dracha, Secretary

Approved this 20th day of March, 1950.

W. G. Weaver, Burgess

Center square was officially ordained as LINCOLN SQUARE by the borough council Monday night, during a special meeting held for this and other purposes at the engine house on East Middle street.

Council had directed, at its March 6 meeting, that the ordinance changing the name to honor the Great Emancipator whose Gettysburg Address made the town known throughout the civilized world, be prepared.

The ordinance, a copy of which is shown above, was adopted without a dissenting vote and without further comment. The square will become LINCOLN SQUARE as soon as the ordinance has been advertised and posted in the official ordinance book of the borough.

FEDERAL SOCIAL SECURITY PLANS ARE DESCRIBED

"The federal old age and survivors' insurance program is really a retirement system to which both the employer and the employee contribute with payments not based upon need but upon the amount of wages and the length of employment in covered industries," Clarence Anstine, manager of the York office of the old age and survivors' insurance division of the Social Security Administration said in a talk before the local Lions club Monday evening.

Mr. Anstine described the operation of social security units handling unemployment insurance and old age assistance as well as that work of his own office.

The federal government's unemployment insurance division seeks to find satisfactory jobs for the unemployed and to provide carry-over compensation until they secure their next job. "The amount is not so attractive that persons would be induced to avoid work to live on federal checks," Anstine said, and expressed the opinion that "by and large there are only exceptional cases where men depend on the federal checks instead of jobs regularly for their livelihood."

Mr. Anstine discussed the requirements for various types of federal assistance, defined such terms as "quarter of coverage" and "retirement" and answered questions by members of the club.

President Donald M. Swope presided at the meeting which was held at the Shetter House.

At a brief business session, Vice Presidents Radford H. Lippy and George T. Raffensperger and Samuel Daley, Kenneth Dengler and Glenn Little were elected as the club's delegates to the Lions International convention at Chicago in July. All 12 men nominated two weeks ago as state convention delegates were elected by acclamation.

The Lions club chorus sang "Stars of the Summer Night" and "One Wide River to Cross" under the direction of Richard B. Shade.

Next week's meeting will be at the Reformed church, it was announced.

Mrs. James E. Parry Dies This Morning

Mrs. Susan Parry, 48, wife of James E. Parry, Biglerville R. 1, Butler township, died at her home at 10:30 this morning of a complication of diseases. She had been in ill health for about a year.

Mrs. Parry was born in Mt. Holly, N. J., a daughter of Mrs. Laura Roberts, Moorestown, N. J., and the late Samuel Roberts. The Parry family moved to Adams county from Wycombe, Bucks county, three years ago.

In addition to her husband and mother she is survived by three children, Thomas, a student at George School; Suzanne and Doris, both at home; one brother, Charles Roberts, Moorestown, N. J., and one sister, Mrs. Anna Baker, Olean, N. Y.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

659 CHECKS SENT

A total of 659 checks, totaling $259,805, were sent to Adams countyans in the first mailing of the state bonus checks, the Veterans Bonus Bureau has revealed.

Mrs. Swisher Heads Clerks' Auxiliary

Mrs. Elsie Swisher was elected as president of the local Auxiliary of Post Office clerks at a meeting held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. David Tawney, West Middle street. Other officers elected were: Vice president, Mrs. Edith Bushman, and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Mae Olinger.

The next meeting will be held Monday evening, April 17, at the home of Mrs. Jeannette Fox.

LEGION HEARS LIND LETTER ON CEMETERY

Members of the Albert J. Lentz American Legion post learned at their meeting Monday evening in the post home, Baltimore street, that there is to be a meeting between Congressman James P. Lind and National Park officials to determine what action to take now that the former Swape property, which had been sought for an addition to the National cemetery, has been bought at a higher figure by a private individual.

Congress had appropriated $5,000 toward purchase of that land, and Lind was seeking to secure an additional $5,000 so that the land could be bought when William Hafer of York purchased the five acres of land for $12,000.

Reads Lind Letter

The local Legion informed the congressman of the purchase by Hafer and received the following letter from the congressman. Adjutant William T. Timmins, Jr., reported.

"I was surprised," Lind wrote, "to learn that the land which the government had intended buying for the enlargement of the Gettysburg National cemetery, has been purchased by a private individual."

"As you know, I have been in continuous contact with the National Parks service in an effort to have that agency acquire said land, and I know that efforts were being made to negotiate an option. However, in view of your letter, I am again taking the matter up with Mr. Hilroy A. Tolson, assistant director of National Parks service, and as soon as I have a report from him, I will let you know."

The possibility of extending the National cemetery in another direction, and a suggestion that some arrangement might be made with the Gettysburg Evergreen Cemetery association were discussed.

Plans for an all-veteran musical review to be entitled "Red, White and Blue" and to be presented under auspices of the national organization of the American Legion were outlined. Profits from the play will be devoted to rehabilitation activity, the local post was informed.

Four men were accepted for membership in the local post bringing the total membership to more than 1,600. Commander Paul B. Fox reported. So far 1,270 have paid their 1950 dues, he noted, adding that as of April 1 those who have not paid 1950 dues will be dropped from the rolls. Membership in the state now totals 204,000, reports read at the meeting disclosed.

Contracts have been let for erection of an amphitheater at the Scotland orphan's school, according to a report made at the meeting. The amphitheater will be dedicated June 10, the date of the Scotland school graduation.

New members admitted to the post Monday included Mark Spalding, Fort Eustis, Va.; Robert Lee Daughn, Gettysburg college; John Raymond Myers, 423 North Stratton street, and George Chandler Bingham, Gettysburg college.

Borough Council Designates Five 1-Way Streets For 60-Day Trial By Close Vote; Restrict Parking

FARM BUREAU OPPOSES DST

Clarence J. Waybright, Gettysburg R. 1, was re-elected president of the Adams County Farm Bureau cooperative at a recent reorganization meeting held by the board of directors at the cooperative office on North Washington street.

Quinn Topper, Emmitsburg, was named as vice president and A. C. Keefe, McKnightstown, was re-elected secretary-treasurer. G. Marion Stambaugh was named as general manager of the cooperative, a post he has held since 1934.

A resolution opposing Daylight Saving Time was voted by the board. The group argued that Daylight Saving Time is unsatisfactory to farmers in that they must carry out their affairs according to "sun time." Putting the clock ahead an hour during the summer months causes inconvenience to the farmer in sending his products to market and in making purchases or attending activities in the communities where Daylight Time is adopted, the directors noted.

D. D. BASEHOAR, IN BUSINESS 50 YEARS, HONORED

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Basehoar, East King street, Littlestown, were honored at a surprise turkey banquet Monday evening in Schott's ballroom hall, tendered by the employees of the D. D. ## $3,000 FIRE AT CENTER MILLS

Fire totally destroyed a year-old combination granary, corn crib, storage and brooder house building on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Thurston Bucher, Center Mills, at 2 o'clock this morning. Damage was estimated at $3,000.

The 32x32 two-story building of frame construction and concrete floor was completely in flames when discovered by the Buchers.

The destroyed building was located between the house and barn, only 16 feet from the latter building where cattle are kept. No attempt was made to save the burning building. Mr. Bucher played water upon the side of the barn with a small hose connected to a faucet in the barn until firemen arrived.

Fire companies from Aspers, Bendersville and Biglerville responded to calls and succeeded in preventing the flames from spreading to the barn. Water was pumped from a stream 1,000 feet away.

Lost in the fire were 400 peeps, four tons of fertilizer, grain and hatchery equipment. The cause of the blaze is uncertain but an electric brooder heater or a furnace fire in the building are regarded as possible causes.

The loss is partially covered by insurance.

30 DAYS' LODGING

Robert Shultz, 22, of Cashtown, arrested Saturday night by borough police on a disorderly conduct charge when he went to the office of Justice of the Peace John H. Basehoar and demanded a place to sleep, was given a hearing before the squire Monday night, and committed to jail for 30 days in default of a fine of $10 and costs.

TO RECITE ROSARY

Members of the Queen of Peace Council of the PCBL will meet at the home of the late Edward J. Redding, Hanover street, Wednesday evening following services at St. Francis Xavier church to recite the rosary.

TRUCK DAMAGED

A truck owned and operated by Leo A. Long, South Orange street, New Oxford, was damaged to the extent of $10 in a collision Saturday afternoon in Hanover.

Borough council, by a vote of four to three, with one councilman not voting and another not present, enacted ordinances at a special meeting in the engine house Monday night providing for one-way traffic on five streets and limiting parking on a total of 12 streets.

Those designated for one-way traffic are:

East High street between Baltimore and South Stratton streets, one way east.

South Stratton and North Stratton streets, from East High street to East Lincoln avenue, one way north.

North Washington and South Washington streets, from West Lincoln avenue to Steinwehr avenue, one-way traffic south.

Breckenridge street, between Baltimore and South Washington streets, one-way traffic west.

South street, between South Washington and Baltimore streets, one-way traffic east.

Can Be Repealed

The ordinance carries a provision that the new one-way regulations become effective May 1. It was adopted with the understanding that it will be given a 60-day trial period. It can be repealed at the expiration of the 60 days.

The following no-parking ordinance was also adopted, to become effective as soon as the ordinance has been advertised, copied in the ordinance book, and signs erected:

Breckenridge street, no parking on north side.

East High street, no parking on north side.

South Stratton street, no parking on the east side from High street a distance 140 feet north.

Liberty street, no parking on the east side.

East Middle street, no parking on the south side from Baltimore street to the alley east of the engine house.

East Middle street, no parking on the north side from Baltimore street to the east property line of the Methodist church.

West Middle street, no parking on the north side, from Baltimore street to the railroad crossing.

North Washington street, no parking on the west side from Chambersburg street to the railroad crossing.

South Washington street, no parking on the east side from Chambersburg street to West Middle street.

South Washington street, no parking on the west side, from West Middle street to High street.

Steinwehr avenue, no parking on the southeast side from Baltimore street to South Washington street.

North Washington street, no parking on the west side from the southern curb line of Lincoln avenue to a point 125 feet southwardly from said curb.

One Absent, One Not Voting

The vote was taken by a show of hands. The four councilmen voting in the affirmative were Councilmen John D. Teeter, L. D. Shearer, Mahlon P. Hartzell and Fred Hummelbaugh. Those voting against were Council President H. M. Oyler and Councilmen Calvin Shank and Samuel Weiser. Councilman George D. March did not vote, and Councilman Harry Koch was absent.

The ordinance establishing the one-way streets provides penalties for violations of fines up to $25 or ten days in jail. Automobiles parking on one-way streets will be required to park in the direction of the flow of traffic, where parking on one side only is allowed.

The one-way, south-bound traffic on North Washington street will force Greyhound and other buses to stop to take on and discharge passengers on the side of the street opposite from the terminal. Councilmen pointed out, however, that the one-way traffic south on this street would provide an alternate south route through the borough, paralleling Carlisle street.

Greyhound Object

Earl Wineman, dispatcher for the Greyhound lines here, objected to the North Washington street regulations on the ground that buses would have to stop opposite the terminal, and passengers would be forced to cross the street. He also said the ordinance would leave the bus companies without places to park buses. It was agreed, however, that they would be allowed to stand for loading or discharging passengers.

Mr. Wineman said the buses daily bring hundreds of people into Gettysburg. The lowest number was 300, crawled from his crib, was dead before he was removed from the house was reiterated today, Mr. Arms said the child could not have lived any appreciable length of time in the intense heat, gases, and smoke, and probably was dead before the arrival of firemen.

Puppy Perished

A six-week-old spaniel puppy which had been given to the Cann youngster only a day or two before the fire, was found in his box in a bedroom on the second floor adjoining the child's room. The dog also had been suffocated. It was found with its head buried in the material used to line the box.

Fire Chief James A. Aumen said Mr. Arms might return to Gettysburg today. Photographs, one of the exterior and one of the kitchen, where the fire originated, were taken Monday by the Lane Studio for the fire marshal's office. Arms was expected to return to go over the photographs and to confer further with local authorities.

It was revealed today that Melvin Burton, March Creek Heights, assisted in removing the child's body. Previously it was reported at the Warner hospital that Melvin "Millard" was treated for inhalation of smoke.

Condolences continued to pour in to the Cann family today. Mrs. Cath, who said she attempted to rescue her son but was forced from the house by the smoke and flames, was still under the care of a physician. She suffered from shock, hysteria and minor burns.

Injuries Trouble Chief

Assistant Fire Chief Donald Jacobs, who with Mr. Burton, found the youngster and removed his body from the house, was reported improved today although still suffering from the effects of inhaling smoke. He was able to return to work Monday night.

Chief Aumen, however, was worse today. X-rays taken Sunday showed no broken bones, but a back injury suffered when he fell through the partly burned floor at the Cann house gave him considerable pain today.

Many floral offerings were being sent to the Bender funeral home, where services for the Cann youngster will be conducted at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. Many friends are expected to call tonight at the funeral home.

CLASS B CAGERS HAVE CRUCIAL GAMES TONIGHT

Harrisburg, March 21 (AP)—Six schoolboy cage teams get their first taste of the 1950 PIAA Class B inter-district playoffs tonight.

Kane and Ashley, last year's state finalists, head the list of recently-titled district champions aiming for state honors. Both are expected to have little difficulty getting past tonight's games.

Kane, the defending titlist, has the most to gain when it meets Mercer at Farrell. The Wolves, winners of the Western Mountain league, can move directly into the western finals on March 28 by winning tonight.

The other two winners will advance to regional semi-finals scheduled for this Friday night.

Ashley, Irwin, Kane and Kutztown are rated as the favorites for the state title of the schools with enrollments between 250 and 500.

Kutztown drew a bye in the opening round of play but will meet Schuylkill Haven Friday night in an eastern semi-final tentatively slated for Reading. Schuylkill Haven of District 11 downed Sharon Hill of District 1, 49-36, in the opening Class B playoff.

Also drawing byes are Cresson (District 6) and Clarks Summit (District 12). Cresson meets the Irwin-Rockwood winner while Clarks Summit draws the winner of the Ashley-Sayre game.

Class C Finals

Class C competition for the year comes to an end tonight with the eastern regional championship tilt at Lancaster between New Holland and West Wyoming. New Holland defeated Copley, last year's eastern winner, and Clifton Heights in inter-district play while West Wyoming has downed Locust Township and Newton-Ransom.

Frederonia of District 10 upset Southmont's District 6 winners, 52-43, to win the western title at Indiana State Teachers college. It was the first loss for Southmont.

This is the third year of inter-district Class C competition. There will be no state championship game as the division of schools with enrollments under 250.

Meanwhile, Class A teams are preparing for their bow into inter-district playoffs tomorrow night.

The schedule sends Haverford (District 1) against York (District 3) at the Hershey arena, Westinghouse (District 8) against Bradford (District 9) at DuBois and Somerset (District 5) against Altoona (District 6) at Johnstown.

Swoyersville's unbeaten Sailors (District 2) meet Williamsport's Millionaires (District 4) tomorrow night at the Kingston armory.

Homestead (District 7), Hickory (District 10) and Allentown (District 11) draw byes into Saturday's regional semi-finals.

Baseball Briefs

Jinx On Giants?

Fresno, Calif., March 21 (AP)—There seems to be a jinx on New York Giant catchers lately.

With first-string receiver Wes Westrum resting a sore, swollen right thumb, veteran Roy Mueller was sent in behind the bat yesterday against the Pittsburgh Pirates at San Bernardino, a game the Giants won, 9-8.

In the third inning, a foul tip tore the nail off Mueller's right index finger. Sal Yvars caught the remainder of the game.

Yanks Do The Impossible

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 21 (AP)—There was more praise today for the New York Yankees' great double-play team of Phil Rizzuto and Gerry Coleman.

It came from Manager Red Rolfe of the Detroit Tigers, who said: "Give me Rizzuto and I think we could win the pennant. One thing the Yankees can do which is of tremendous value to them is make the clutch double play, the real tough one that nobody else can make. Every club makes the routine double play, but the Yankees, with Rizzuto and Coleman, can make the one which seems impossible."

Dodgers To Keep Edwards

Vero Beach, Fla., March 21 (AP)—The chances for a spring trade involving the Brooklyn Dodgers' catcher Bruce Edwards looked slim today.

Here's why: Rookie catcher Steve Lembo, up from Montreal, had been considered the possible No. 2 receiver behind Roy Campanella should Brooklyn get a solid pitcher in a trade for Edwards.

But Lembo yesterday was sent back to Brooklyn for a rest and checkup, victim of an extended flu attack. So Edwards looks like the second catcher indefinitely.

Berth For Waitkus

Clearwater, Fla., March 21 (AP)—It looks more every day as though Eddie Waitkus will be the Philadelphia Phillies' varsity first baseman when the National League season opens.

Waitkus has been waging a spirited battle to regain the position taken over by Dick Sisler last summer when Eddie was shot by a deranged girl in Chicago.

In yesterday's game with St. Louis Cards—won by the Red Birds 15-4—Eddie banged out a double in two trips to the plate and was the Waitkus of old in his defensive play.

Brissie Looks Good For A's

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 21 (AP)—The coming American League season could well be the best yet for Lou Brissie, Philadelphia Athletics' left-hander.

The big hurrier with the shell-shattered leg has long been known as a late starter—a pitcher who doesn't hit his top form until mid season.

Since the start of spring training, Brissie has been bearing down as never before. In a five-inning stint against Memphis yesterday, Lou had the situation well in hand all the way, allowing three scattered hits.

Pirates' Record Is Even

San Bernardino, Calif., March 21 (AP)—Thanks to the 9-8 defeat the New York Giants handed them yesterday, the Pittsburgh Pirates now sport a record of five and five for their 1950 exhibition baseball season.

The Buccos head north today for a week in the San Francisco area. They'll play three games with the Giants up there and another three with San Francisco of the Pacific Coast league. Murray Dickson and Cliff Chambers are listed to lead the Bucs in their bay area opener today against the Giants at Fresno.

Shakedown For Indians

Burbank, Calif., March 21 (AP)—Cleveland's Indians will be in San Diego Thursday, and the big question some of the Tribe's rookies are asking themselves is, "will we still be there when the club moves on?"

Manager Lou Boudreau refuses to pass judgment openly on any of the newcomers. He hints the real shakedown will come in April when the exhibition tour veers from the coast for a 14-game series with New York's Giants.

Saigh Sees Tight Races

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 21 (AP)—Fred Saigh, owner of the St. Louis Cardinals, has just returned to camp from a quick trip to St. Louis and he's happy over the success of the team on the field.

"The races in both major leagues figure to be close," he said. "The Yankees and the Dodgers each won their pennants last year on the final day of the season. There is no reason to believe that the races won't be just as tight this year. It should be a good and an interesting summer."

BRADLEY BACK IN TITLE RACE

Kansas City, March 21 (AP)—Just plain know-how and all-America Paul Unruh today had the Bradley university Braves back in the running for a national basketball championship.

Bradley earned the fifth district spot in the western NCAA playoffs by trimming the University of Kansas Jayhawks, 59-57, on a late drive before 10,500 fans in Municipal auditorium last night.

Bradley's victory over Kansas completes the western field which also includes U.C.L.A., Baylor and Brigham Young. The western playoffs will be held here Friday and Saturday.

The Braves were beaten in the finals of the National Invitational tournament at New York by City College of New York last Saturday.

Bradley's opponent Friday will be U.C.L.A., beginning at 10:45 (EST). Baylor and Brigham Young start the program at 9 o'clock. The western champion will meet the eastern champion in Madison Square Garden next Tuesday.

Unruh, a 6-foot 4-inch senior from Toulon, Ill., came through with three field goals in 45 seconds of the closing minutes to get Bradley over the hump in a game that was tied 14 times.

Sports Roundup

New York, March 21 (AP)—The preliminaries to the 1950 National Collegiate A. A. Basketball tournament have been attended with more than the usual amount of belling from ambitious teams and coaches and, for once, we're inclined to agree with Chet Nelson that the whole selection system is due for an overhaul job.

The Rocky Mountain News sports editor points out that two Big Seven teams were unhappy when Kansas was chosen and that every year the Rocky Mountain conference "takes on a good bout" over being ignored. . . . You can go further and add that Bradley got into last night's playoff against Kansas only by holering; that Kentucky wasn't at all pleased at being bypassed and a lot of folks weren't happy about the handling of the District 2 choice of CCNY. . . . Nat Holman's boys made that one look good, but how about those Princeton kids who were kept waiting a week after their season ended before they were turned down? . . . At least Bruce Drake, C. E. McBride & Co. made their decision without undue delays. . . . Best suggestion we can offer is to set up an ironbound plan before the season, or to let more teams into the playoffs.

SHARP CRACK CORNER
Jersey Jones, the well-known cauliflower importer, offers this one: "If the I.B.C. matchmaker lopped one L off the last half of his name and put it on the front half of his handle, you'd have a pretty good description of the fight game in New York." . . . That of course, would make it "All Weil." . . . P.S. Jersey adds, "I don't care what Weil thinks; I can't get a fight in the joint anyway."

END OF THE LINE
The U. of San Francisco basketball team set a distance record (17,643 miles traveled by air) and an attendance record (188,728) last season. . . . W. H. (Dinty) Moore, Navy's lacrosse coach, also is president of the Maryland College for Women. . . . He must have adopted Theodore Roosevelt's motto: "Speak softly and carry a big stick."

Lebanon Valley Adds New Coach
Annville, Pa., March 21—Warren W. Gockley, head football, basketball and track coach at Springfield, Montgomery county, high school for the past 12 years, has been named assistant football coach at Lebanon Valley college, it was announced today.

Gockley is the second coach to be named at Lebanon Valley within the past week. Ralph Ricker, former head football mentor at Dickinson college, was named last week to succeed Andy Kerr as head coach of the Flying Dutchmen. Gockley will be assistant coach under Ricker along with Dick Fox who has been assistant to Andy Kerr for the past three seasons.

Louis To Announce "Comeback" Plans

Odessa, Tex., March 21 (AP)—What appears to be probably the worst kept secret of the year will "leak out" at Waco Saturday.

Joe Louis, who "retired" as heavyweight boxing champion of the world, is giving every indication that he will announce a comeback.

The Brown Bomber appeared here last night in an exhibition. He has two more before finishing a national tour. Tomorrow night he will be at El Paso, then Saturday at Waco. There, he says, he will decide whether he will return to the championship firing line.

All along the way Louis has shown he's preparing for another title fight. He is carrying only 230 pounds—15 above the weight he assigned himself. He has had more than 20 fights since February 2, including three that went the full ten rounds. He estimates it will take him about two months to get ready for a title bout.

Sport Shorts

Jacksonville, Fla., March 21 (AP)—Cary Middlecoff may have started another run of red-hot golf with his victory in the Jacksonville Open yesterday.

The 29-year-old National Open champion ended a series of high finishes with the top $2,000 in this event last year. Shooting a 69 on final day here, Middlecoff scored 279 for the 72 holes. The three-under-par round stood out among a flock of sad ones as a treacherous wind gusted across the 6,508-yard Hyde Park course.

Denver, March 21 (AP)—Oakland's national champion Blue 'N' Golds and five other seeded teams will make their first appearances today in the A.A.U. basketball tournament. Today's nine-game program will reduce the original field of 40 teams to 16.

Oakland is scheduled to go into action at 8:30 p. m. (MST) against the Aurora, Colo., Strait Lumber company.

Reporter On Spot For Holdup Story

Harrisburg, Pa., March 21 (AP)—Reporter George Fox called his newspaper, The Harrisburg Patriot, last night and informed the city desk: "I have a holdup story."

"Is that so?" commented the rewrite man. "Who was the victim?" "Me," said Fox.

Then Fox told how two men held him at gunpoint forced him to hand over $40.

His story phoned in, Fox reported the robbery to police.

The peoples of the world continue to hear of it, to know of it, and as more nations adopt the declaration the pressure on other nations to adopt becomes that much greater." Sees Future Acceptance
Maxwell outlined the efforts of the UNESCO to aid in reestablishment of schools and libraries destroyed during the war, in aiding in providing better education facilities for backward peoples and in seeking to remove nationalistic preachings from textbooks. In addition it backs the formation of such organizations as the International club at Gettysburg college, Maxwell said, and provides for information and education concerning the United Nations as such.

Interest among youngsters in schools concerning the United Nations is so high, Maxwell said that "if the United Nations can survive this generation there is little doubt that it will be embraced and strengthened by the next generation. Its greatest difficulty will be living through all of the obstructions placed in its path by the present governments and peoples."

William G. Weaver, president of the local club, presided at the meeting with 50 members present.

Old Directory Brings Pleasant Memories Of Early Businesses In Gettysburg

BURGESS WILL GIVE DOCUMENT TO HISTORIANS

Times change, old faces disappear and business places of yesteryear are no more. This is no more strikingly illustrated than through the recent discovery by Burgess William G. Weaver of a Gettysburg business directory printed about 50 years ago.

The men whose pictures appear around the border of the directory were the life-blood of the community's mercantile life a half century ago. Fewer than a half dozen of the 27 are still alive. None of them are actively engaged in business in Gettysburg today.

Only three of the businesses advertised in this old directory are still in existence, although many of the buildings are still in use. Other business places and other proprietors occupy their locations.

The City hotel is one. It's still a hotel, but known now as the James Gettys. John D. Lippy has retired from the merchant tailor business, but his son, Radford, carries on the name and business. R. R. Long is no longer proprietor of the Gettysburg Steam Laundry, but there is still a laundry at the same location.

Few Survivors
Among the men whose pictures appeared in the directory who are still living are Harry T. Cunningham, 131 Washington street, 50-add years ago a bicycle dealer on York street across from St. James church; Calvin F. Solt, who conducted a tailor shop in the old Spangler building on Baltimore street and later on West Middle street, now retired; Max Davis, whose men's and women's furnishings store was at 19 York street opposite the old Globe hotel, now the Sachs apartments; Harry B. Armor, bicycle dealer and electrician; Mr. Lippy, and T. J. Winebrenner, who was in the sheet metal business on Baltimore street at the turn of the century.

Hop Lee's Laundry
Any Gettysburg "youngster" of 50 or so who lived here 50 years ago remembers Hop Lee's laundry on Carlisle street. Older persons still retain memories of McConaughy's hall, on the second floor of the old building where The Times and News Publishing company's modern building now stands, and Tate's cafe next to the Chinese laundry.

If you can "remember when" these were among the prominent business places in Gettysburg, you can qualify for membership in the "Old Times club".

Harry T. Cunningham's bicycle shop in a part of the C. J. Spangler carriage shop on York street, opposite St. James church.

The steam laundry when R. R. Long was its proprietor, on Steinwehr avenue.

J. McMundoff, blacksmith and horseshoer, whose shop was on Washington street.

Hotel Gettysburg Cafe
Davis and company, ladies and men's wear, 19 York street, opposite the old Globe hotel, now the location of Dengler's grocery store.

F. M. Garlach's monument works at 313 South Baltimore street. The Hotel Gettysburg cafe, which advertised meals, game in season and food drinks, in the basement of the Hotel Gettysburg, with its entrance on Carlisle street. S. J. Bumbaugh was the genial host.

Calvin F. Solt's tailor shop in the Spangler building on Baltimore street. Mr. Solt later moved to West Middle street. He retired recently.

The Pitzer house, another of the town's hostilities, which was advertised by its proprietor, John E. Pitzer, as a "temperance" house. It was located at 127 "Main" street, now Chambersburg street, and is now the Winebrenner apartments. Mr. Pitzer also offered to provide teams and guides for battlefield tours.

Harness Manufacturer
J. H. Colliflower, harness manufacturer and dealer in saddles, robes and other items connected with the horse and buggy days. At the time the directory was printed, he was located at 42 Chambersburg street. He later was located on Baltimore street in what is now the Murphy building.

William Biggs, the town's negro veterinarian, at High and South Washington streets.

R. D. Armor and company, plumbers and steamfitters, on East Middle street near Stratton street. The building is still standing. Offices of Dr. F. T. Watson, chiropractist, occupy the first floor.

W. Duterra and Son, Gettysburg and McKnightstown, leather manufacturers, dealers in grain, coal and produce and agents for the Western Maryland railroad and Adams Express company. The directory shows a picture of the Duterra building at McKnightstown station.

Battlefield Hotel
The "new" battlefield hotel. It is through a picture of this hotel, torn down last year, that old timers place the approximate date that the directory was printed. The "old" hotel burned, and the new one was built in 1896, they say. The photograph may have been taken shortly after its completion. The hotel was built about the same time as the Meade school. Mrs. Elise Braunreuter was the proprietress.

George W. Stallsmith's window, sash and door factory on North Franklin street, at the corner of Race Horse alley. It has been torn down. He was next to the John C. Lower company warehouse. The mill turned out scroll work which found its way into many Gettysburg homes. Its proprietor was the father of the late Wilbur J. Stallsmith.

Joseph Jacobs, tailor, 119 Chambersburg street. His place of business is now the office of Dr. Joseph H. Riley, dentist, and the Riley apartments.

"Rigs" For Tours
Sefton and Fleming's livery, operated by Charles C. Sefton and W. B. Fleming. It was located on the alley east of Baltimore street in this building that Dr. H. M. Hartman had his office when he first opened the practice of medicine in Gettysburg.

C. H. Comfort's sash, door and window factory, South Baltimore street.

The City hotel, now the James Gettys hotel on Chambersburg street, which offered special rates to wheelmen, and free bus to trains.

John E. Hughes was the proprietor of the pool and billiard room operated by W. H. Kitzmiller at the rear of the Hotel Gettysburg.

H. B. Armor, one of the town's electricians, who also advertised bicycle sundries, repaired bicycles and had them for hire. His place was on Chambersburg street.

paperhanging with funeral services, and decorating with "undertaking in all of its branches," with "night calls promptly attended to," on York street, west of the Storm apartments and the Bringman insurance agency. R. C. Miller, who advertised "fine printing" with half-tone work "a square, now the Leatherman building.

J. H. Myers, 11 Baltimore street, who specialized in clothing, tailoring and men's furnishings. The Myers store was next to the alley in the present Murphy building. The ice cream factory on Washington street, now the Leatherman building.

Home Girl

By Carol Holliston

Chapter 30
It was over two hours before Don came and let himself into the house with his key. Anne sat very quietly waiting, or perhaps just daydreaming, because she didn't know he had arrived until he put his arms about her and kissed her.

"Sorry I'm late, but I had a little business to attend to that simply couldn't be put off under any circumstances. Were you getting impatient?"

She took his hand and drew him down on the seat beside her. She held his hand so it seemed that one warm life stream flowed through both of their bodies. Her voice was a little uneasy.

"I hope I shall never be impatient with you, Don. I am sure you will never give me any justification for it."

"Remember I told you about Lenore? You had every reason to drive out of your life then."

"I have a confession to make, Don, before I talk to you very seriously about something else."

He squeezed her hand. "Must be so very serious on this beautiful day? Can't we save it for the country? You know, today Mother is going to show us the part of the house she had set aside for us and prepared as our home with her. It is a separate wing, so we can look her out any time we want to, she says."

"We will never want to, Don. But—"

He kissed her quickly. "There aren't any buts at all. There aren't going to be any from now on. I have been very busy this morning. I have surprises for everybody—even Mary."

"You're very kind, Mary is thrilled to death at going. She wanted to take a cake for fear your mother would run short because we all ate so much. And she is taking a small apron so she can be helpful."

"She can be helpful just by being in my house. Now for my news."

She put a hand over his mouth. "I insist on mine first. I claim a lady's privilege."

"First of all, about Lenore. Tony came to see me and told me about her. He wanted me to ask you things. I never would have done so. I told him my love for you was big enough to include complete acceptance of you."

"You are adorable."

"You came to me the next evening and told me about your foolish marriage."

"And you forgave me."

"There was nothing to forgive. But I am going to put your love for me as a real test."

"No buts allowed. We'll forget you said that. Strike it from the record, as they say in court. And to clean up Lenore, you know the divorce was completely legal and proper. I had a lawyer take it up with your father. I didn't ask you to marry me until I was completely sure. Lenore merely wanted to try to squeeze out a little more money."

"I know, Tony was trying to squeeze money too, Don."

He held her close. "Tony told me what happened here. He won't bother us, but I will use him as an attorney on occasion. In fact, I want to see him this morning. And Celia, of course."

"Celia?"

"Now you are interested. Now I can tell you my news."

"No, Don. I still must be first. It is about our wedding next week. I don't like to say it, but I have—"

He kissed her again lightly. "No buts. That puts you out. I'm sure I know what you want to say, so my story has to come first."

"You can't know what I must say, Don. Celia made a decision—"

"Darling, didn't I just tell you I have come from Celia? And Tony. We had a very nice talk about several things. I know I should have seen to it before, but I procrastinated. Also, I hadn't seen the twins yet. I didn't realize how much they had changed."

"Oh, Don, you did see. That's what I have to talk about."

"I know it. That's why you have to listen to me, darling."

"I want. You're making it so difficult."

"All right. I'll make it easy. You're trying to tell me you want to postpone our wedding. The answer is definitely no. I positively refuse to have it put off a day."

"Don."

"I mean it. I am adopting the twins. Legal adoption, of course. That is why I want to see Celia and Tony this morning. I got her out of bed, but Celia can be sweet and cordial when it serves her purpose. I am adopting the twins. I want two nice boys. If you want to marry me next week they will be your boys, too, but you can't have them unless you do. Now do you still have any buts?"

She looked at him with glowing eyes. "Don! Oh, Don! You can't mean it."

"I certainly do."

"What will your mother say?"

"She said it last night. I got my last bawling out. Like the slap which turned a commoner into a knight or an apprentice into a skilled worker. I am now really a man."

There were joyous tears in her eyes. She shook her head a little.

"Oh, I have been so silly."

He jumped up and drew her into his embrace. "Then what are we waiting for? We're keeping Mother waiting. And the dogs. And the ponies."

"Oh, Don. The boys will learn to jump again up there. You will let them ride the pony as they did last summer."

"Pony? Darling, you mean two ponies. Two boys, two ponies. And cowboy outfits. Wasn't I one a ranch? We'll all go on a ranch. They have to start learning to ride today. All Carreys have to ride well, and you know they are going to be Carreys now."

She clung to him, laughing a little crazily in her happiness. "And I'll be a Carey too."

He laughed and hugged her. "Want another hanky to cry in?"

"Certainly not. I'm laughing."

"Splendid. Collect your family. The country is waiting for us."

MAY RETURN TO FLOGGING IN GREAT BRITAIN

London, March 21 (AP)—A wave of brutal crimes has brought growing demands for the return of legal flogging with the dread "cat o' nine tails."

Britons of all classes—even some of the old-time professional thugs and burglars—are getting more and more incensed at the sickening violence of Britain's postwar "kid gangs." Worse still, to the average Briton, is the fact that more and more criminals are carrying guns—and this in a land where ordinary policemen traditionally are not armed.

Spurred by public indignation, by headline protests in the nation's press and pressure from law bodies throughout the land, the House of Lords today discusses the growing use by jittery youngsters of the gun, the broken bottle, the lead pipe and the straight razor.

Suggest Lash Again
Heading the list of suggested measures for curbing this is the possibility of making legal once again the use of the lash—mere mention of which makes the most hardened British criminal wince. The House of Commons is slated to discuss it later on.

Britain abolished the use of the "cat" in prisons two years ago, when the government revised its lawbooks on criminal procedure.

But so vicious have become some of the dark-street muggings and robberies in recent times that tough old magistrates are demanding the right to impose flogging as well as jail terms.

Lord Chief Justice Goddard, sentencing two teen-aged boys last February for nearly killing an elderly lady with a lead pipe because they were just looking for somebody to slug, declared:

"The amount of violence that is going on x x x is shocking. I believe it is largely due to the fact that men know they can no longer be whipped for it."

Police authorities blame the new violence in crime on the pasty-faced kid with the gun who gets jittery when he pulls a job.

TRUMAN ENJOYS KEY WEST EASE

Key West, Fla., March 21 (AP)—A tanned and relaxed President Truman pursued his favorite vacation hobbies today in the company of favored pals while his staff kept him abreast of developments at Washington.

Members of his party said he is more relaxed than he has been in several weeks.

Long "bull sessions" with Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson have become almost as much a part of his vacation routine as his daily trips to the beach for a swim and a sunbath, nightly music concerts and occasional poker games.

Vinson flew down Saturday with

Two Get Long Terms For Phila. Holdup

Philadelphia, March 21 (AP)—Judge Eugene V. Alessandrini yesterday sentenced two men, to from 20 to 40 years in Eastern State Penitentiary for the $24,000 holdup of the Abbott's Dairies, Inc., last Dec. 20. At the same time the jurist denied motions for new trials for the two men, William Bakay, 43, and Augustus Parley, 46.

Judge Alessandrini in pronouncing sentence accused the two of hiding most of the stolen money, adding "no one is being fooled by these men and they'll get no sympathy from this court."

Police have recovered only about $6,000 of the loot.

"Perhaps they hope some day to enjoy that money," the jurist said, "but I am going to make that day as far away as possible."

Before beginning his sentence for the armed robbery, Bakay first must serve about five years remaining of a previous 10-to-20 year sentence for armed robbery. He was on parole when the holdup took place.

UMW CONTEMPT CASE PRESSED

Washington, March 21 (AP)—The government is pushing its contempt case against John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers before the Supreme Court today during the recent coal strike.

The Justice department attorneys filed an appeal yesterday asking a reversal of the decision by Judge Richmond B. Keach which cleared the union and its president of contempt of court charges.

Keach, who issued the injunction to end the strike during negotiations over a settlement, cleared Lewis and the union of the contempt charges brought after the miners refused to heed his order. He ruled that the government did not prove union officials were responsible for continuing the strike.

Lewis, acting on the court's order, had messaged the men to return to work.

In a brief filed in the Circuit Court of Appeals, the government lawyers contend this message was a "tongue in cheek" move, that Lewis made no sincere effort to get the men back to work. "It was clearly the duty of the officers to make plain to the membership that the officers could not accept the benefits of bargaining gained from disobedience to the injunction of the court," Assistant Attorney General H. Graham Morrison said in the appeal. He contended that Lewis had presented a "studied picture in inaction" in not forcing district presidents to get the men back to work.

Philadelphians, March 21 (AP)—Dr. H. Cotter Boyle, retired surgeon formerly on the staff of Allentown General hospital, died yesterday in Misericordia hospital after a long illness. He was 62. Dr. Boyle, a graduate of Temple university medical school, served as club physician for the Philadelphia Phillies baseball team from 1936 to 1942. During World War One, he served overseas with a British medical unit.

BURGESS WILL GIVE DOCUMENT TO HISTORIANS

ington street near the railroad. George W. Myers, proprietor, advertised his plant as "steam manufacturer of ice cream, dealer in oysters, melons, foreign and domestic fruits."

Globe Hotel
The Globe hotel. Old timers may not remember all of the other places, but few could miss this hostelry, around which, it appears, so much local history and lore revolved. At the time the directory was published, Elias Fissel was the proprietor. There was a livery stable attached.

It was here, the oldsters reminisce, that a certain well-known veterinarian was wont to quaff his ale, loudly and with gusto, and it has even been said of him that when he came to town, he rode his horse into the barroom. Recollection has it also that a well was back of the hotel, and its pump handle was wrenched off and used as the murder weapon in a famous local killing.

Washington house, on Carlisle street. Its position was advantageous, standing as it did opposite the Western Maryland depot. Amos W. Newman, proprietor, provided horse-drawn carriages and guides. Like the proprietor of the Pitzer house, Newman advertised that he was a member of Post No. 9 of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Charles A. Smith, another bicycle man. The "salesrooms," bicycle "livery" and repair shop were located on South Washington street.

Sheet Metal Contractor
Thomas J. Winebrenner. Mr. Winebrenner, still living, and one of the better known residents of Gettysburg, was a sheet metal contractor and workman, who dealt also in stoves, furnaces, lightning rods, roofing and spouting. His place was built on the site of an old tannery, on Baltimore street, and the long, frame buildings were torn down long ago. Six brick homes now occupy the site.

H. E. Minnigh was the town's sign painter. He had a shop on East Middle street.

W. H. Tipton, battlefield photographer. He advertised portraits and souvenirs, and many were the battlefield pictures he took in the years before his death.

Battlefield Museum
J. A. Danner. His free battlefield museum was at 28 Baltimore street at the time of the directory, so his advertisement shows. "Bucky" was another of the better known residents. He was a bachelor, and considerable of a joker. It was said of him that he sold the bullet that killed General Reynolds to gullible "tourists" times without number.

John Good, West Middle street. He at one time had a shop on North Washington street. He advertised novelties made of wood from the battlefield, a method of separating the cash from the visitors that is by no means defunct. He had a small wagon which he drew around the town, taking his wares where the tourists were most apt to be found.

The Racket store. Apparently this novel merchandising emporium did not remain in business long enough to make a lasting impression on Gettysburg residents, since few remember definitely its location. It has been variously placed in the first block of York street, on the south side, and on LINCOLN SQUARE about where the Dunlap tire store is now located. The present bark building was not then built.

Veteran Barber
W. W. McDaniel and Thomas Cook, who ran the store, advertised thusly: "When you want to buy anything always try our place first; we are almost sure to have it at a cut price" and "We buy and sell bargains, the place where you can find rock bottom prices at all times."

Nostalgic memories recall that Charley Sefton, in addition to being a partner in the livery business, was also a barber, and had a shop where the Varsity barber shop is now located. It was noted for its Christmas decorations.

Miller, the printer, also served as postmaster, and at one time operated the Jennie Wade house. He was considered one of the town's politicians.

Minnigh, the decorator and sign painter, put up the first house numbers used in Gettysburg, according to the best recollections of older residents.

Myers Jewelry Store
One of the businesses which enjoyed the greatest longevity of them all was the well-known jewelry store of the late Penrose Myers. It was established in 1876, long before the directory was published, and it remained, until Mr. Myers' recent death, in the first block of Baltimore street, east side.

Some may remember T. J. Winebrenner's horse, "Nellie." It was a light sorrel, and was so gentle that anyone could drive or ride her. Children often did. Ed Alfott, Littleton, and the late John Leister were two of Mr. Winebrenner's early employees.

These are the recollections of some of the older residents of Gettysburg. Most of the business places disappeared many years ago, and recollections may not be accurate.

The Hotel Gettysburg, not included among the advertisers in the directory, was represented by a cafe. It remains at its original site.

Burgess Weaver has had the directory mounted on cardboard and will present it to the Adams County Historical Society.

CHARGES DISMISSED
Washington, March 21 (AP)—The National Labor Relations board today announced it had dismissed charges of unfair labor practices brought by the CIO-Textile Workers union against the Waynesboro (Pa.) Knitting Co. The union had contended the company—manufacturers of women's knitted underwear—"made or authorized statements and

SEES DAD PERISH IN PLANE CRASH

Reading, Pa., March 21 (AP)—A student priest watched horrified as his father and another man were killed in the crash of a small plane at nearby Wernersville.

The father, Charles W. Judge, 44, of Long Island City, N. Y., was just leaving to return home after visiting his son, Kenneth, a student at the Jesuit Novitiate of St. Isaac Jogues.

The elder Judge was dead when taken from the wreckage of the small, two-passenger plane.

Judge's companion, Richard G. Gray, 44, of Williston Park, N. Y., suffered burns of the entire body and died later in Reading General hospital.

Stanley Kramer, state police aeronautics inspector, said the left wing of the small plane struck a tree during the take-off, crashed into a larger tree and nosed into a tennis court.

Both men were strapped in their seats for the take-off, Kramer said, but Gray somehow worked himself loose and was struggling to get clear of the flaming wreckage when rescuers reached him.

Saigon, Vietnam, Indo-China,

March 21 (AP)—Two U. S. destroyers—the target of Communist-led riots that killed three persons and wounded at least 30 others—left here on schedule Monday.

On Sunday 3,000 students and 1,000 workmen, waving the gold-starred flag of Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh's rebels, began a march toward the harbor to protest American backing of the French-supported Vietnam government.

Baltimore Livestock

CATTLE—Another small supply of cattle was offered buyers on the Baltimore Union Stockyards today. Fresh receipts were estimated at 900 head to form the smallest Monday offering since the first of last August. Run figured approximately 75 per cent of the number of the corresponding day in 1949. Salable receipts included approximately 100 head from late last Friday and the supply as only odd head lots of heifers were included.

Salemen tried for higher prices but buyers worked cautiously and made sure prices were steady or lower on all slaughter classes. Some opposition noted to prices of stock cattle, but a crowd demand in the face of relatively small numbers enabled this class to work higher. Salable cattle receipts at the 12 major mid-Western terminals, markets and increase of 7,900 head over last Monday's movement.

Although slaughter steers cleared slowly there was little net change in the price level compared with last Thursday. Small lot of good 1,150-pound, $27.50 and medium, $25.50; 1,150-pound and good offerings, $25-27.25; few down to $24.50.

Heifers formed a relatively small percentage of the total receipts but sold about steady with last Thursday. Scattered odd lots of good heifers, $24; common and medium, $19-21 and odd culler, $18.

Unusually steady to as much as 50c. lower paid in cow department compared with last Thursday's slow and lower trade. Good cows again scarce, $17.50-20.50, little above $18.50. Bulk of common and medium cows, $15.50-17.50 while canners and cutters, $13-15.

Bulls also moved seaward on an unusually steady to 50c. lower. Slaughter offerings made up most of receipts and good grades, $18.50-21.50 but outside high mark, $22, for a few offerings. Bulls, mostly common and medium, $17-19.

There was considerable opposition to prices for stock cattle but the demand was broad in comparison to the number on offer and prices fully steady, instances 50c. higher than last Thursday. Sale largely made in lots of less than carlot size and consisted principally of good and choice grades, $24.75-26.50 for lots of 93-112 pounds.

CALVES—Supplies in calf department showed little change compared to the number on offer a week ago but continued to figure smaller than the count of a year ago. Trading showed some slight improvement over last week and moderately active at least. Prices generally $11 higher than last Friday's quotations. Good and choice vealers, $25-30; top, $30. Common and medium calves and vealers, $20-25 and culls $12-20 in most cases.

HOGS—Receipts fell a little short of last Monday's run and formed only a little more than half the count of the same day in 1949. However, supplies at the 12 major mid-Western markets showed marked expansion over a week ago and a year ago, and localities at those centers had a somewhat similar effect on the local trade. Most sales around 25c. lower than last Friday but over 220-pound barrows and gilts measured a 50c. downturn. Bulk of good and choice, 150-220-pound barrows and gilts, $17-18.25; top $17.25. Good grades, 120-140-pound shipments, $13.75-14.25; 140-160 pounds, $15-15.50; 160-180 pounds, $16-16.50.

Sows also mostly 25c. lower compared with last Friday. Good and choice under 400-pound, $14.25-14.50 in most instances while good, 40

"MISLEADING" CLAIMS LAID TO 2 DRUG FIRMS

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, March 21 (AP)—The government has tied off on a couple of big drug companies—and may do so on more—for the claims they make for antihistamine, the alleged cold-stopper.

The Federal Trade commission (FTC) complains that the advertisements of the following two companies are false and misleading: Bristol-Myers, makers of "Resistab," and Anahist, maker of "Anahist." Both companies say their advertising claims are thoroughly supported.

The FTC said these are the first government complaints to come out of its investigation into the advertising claims made for antihistamine products. Other companies are being scrutinized.

Histamine is a chemical produced by your body tissues. There's a theory that when you overproduce histamine, it effects your tissues in such a way that you become an easy mark for a cold.

So antihistamine, as its name indicates, is supposed to offset the bad effects of histamine. But doctors disagree as to whether there's proof that it does.

Until last fall, antihistamines were considered too powerful for use without a doctor's prescription. Then some antihistamines were produced and were milder, or thought to be milder.

A number of drug companies began to sell various brands of antihistamines. But many doctors continued to write their own prescriptions to be sure of the doses their patients took.

Charge Misrepresentation

The FTC charges the two companies have misrepresented the curing powers of their antihistamine products in treating the common cold.

Those two products the FTC complaint says, are neither a cure, preventative nor competent treatment for the common cold. Further, in its statement about the case, the FTC says:

Both Resistab and Anahist, taken as directed, "may be unsafe and produce injury or harm to the user" and the advertisements "have actually misled and deceived a substantial portion of the purchasing public."

This will probably be a long-drawn-out argument. The only thing that has happened so far is a complaint against the companies by the FTC. The companies will have a chance to answer the complaint.

Can Appeal to Courts

Then there'll probably be a hearing by the FTC at which the companies can argue their case. If then the FTC decides the companies are all right, that ends it. The complaint doesn't stand.

But if the FTC decides formally after the hearing that the companies have been misleading the public it will order them to stop. But even that isn't final if the companies want to appeal to the U. S. courts.

The courts' decision would be final. But, until there is a court decision, the companies are free to continue the advertising claims which brought the FTC complaint in the first place.

Fruitmen Oppose Suit Against A&P

The Franklin County Horticultural society in a resolution released today expressed its opposition to the anti-trust suit against A&P food stores and recommended that Congress amend the anti-trust laws so that businessmen can "comply with the law and safely plan their enterprises without fear of persecution."

The resolution said the society "does not agree with the present tendency, both of the courts and the U. S. Department of Justice, to adopt certain views which we believe are opposed to the true intent and meaning of these laws."

More than 200 organizations throughout the country have passed resolutions protesting the action of the Anti-Trust Division in seeking to break up A&P.

"The result of breaking up a competitive company such as A&P would tend to establish higher food prices, thus resulting in decreased purchasing power of all food products and affecting the health and welfare of our people," the resolution said. The society pointed out that the operations of A&P had resulted in minimum prices to consumers, thus increasing the consumption of farm products.
